Course Description

The overall goal of this course is to empower participants with the tools to critically reflect on and enhance their pedagogical practices. The course builds on previous studies in the Principles and Practices in the TESOL Classroom course by exploring contextual factors in the implementation of TESOL principles, and potential problems or issues related to these factors. Firstly, through the application of a variety of theoretical and pedagogical frameworks, participants will observe and reflect on each other's teaching activities to develop an awareness of what constitutes effective and contextually relevant TESOL pedagogy. Secondly, participants will regularly reflect on their own teaching through teacher journals and share their pedagogical challenges and successes with other classmates. Thirdly, through readings and other awareness-raising activities, participants will gain a deeper understanding of the sociocultural and institutional factors that may affect their effectiveness in the implementation of TESOL classroom practices. They will use this knowledge to critically reflect on the issues encountered in their own institutions as they relate to lesson planning, materials adaptation, classroom assessment, teacher talk and target language use. Lastly, drawing from the course's objectives explained above, participants will devise a teaching action plan that encourages them to promote innovation in their context. By the end of this course, student-teachers will build awareness of their agency as teaching professionals and view their practice through a more critical lens.
